

Kenneth S. Korach is a Senior Principal Investigator and Chief of the Reproductive and Developmental Biology Laboratory and Chief of the Receptor Biology Section at the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences/NIH. He received his Ph.D. in Endocrinology from the Medical College of Georgia. He did post doctoral training at Harvard Medical School. He was an Editor and then Editor-in-Chief for Endocrinology and on the editorial board for Steroids, FASEB Journal, Molecular and Cellular Endocrinology, Journal of Molecular Endocrinology and Nuclear Receptor Signaling. He was elected into the Senior Biomedical Research Service (SBRS) at NIH, has edited 5 books and currently published 395 papers and 108 book chapters and reviews.